BROKER PARTICIPANTS AND NOMINATED ADVISERS

Nominated Advisors

To list on the NSX it is required that a Nominated Adviser is appointed to assist the issuer with the admission procedure and compliance with ongoing obligations under the NSX Rules. Eligible organisations are stockbrokers, banker, lawyers, accountants or other professionals experienced in corporate finance.

The nominated adviser's role is to help the issuer's board with the application process by ensuring that the directors have been guided and advised on their responsibilities and obligations under the NSX rules. The nominated adviser also will explain the NSX rules to the board although specialists may be needed to cover areas of the rules that fall outside of the adviser's range of expertise.

Because the directors are responsible for compliance with the NSX's rules, it is essential that they are confident that they understand their responsibilities and have taken the steps required to ensure the information in the application for listing is complete and correct. At the time of admission, the Nominated Adviser will confirm to the NSX that the Issuer has complied with the relevant rules. Once the securities are admitted to the market, the Nominated Adviser needs to be available at all times to guide and advise the Issuer and provide further assistance as needed.

Issuers are required, under the NSX rules, to retain the services of a nominated adviser at all times.
