History of the Fidelity Fund

The current NSX Fidelity Fund has been in operation since 2000, the year the NSX was granted its current licence. The form of and establishment of the Fund was agreed with ASIC and NSX was part of its licence, with rules created in the NSX Business rules as part of the compensation arrangements.

PRIOR TO 11 MARCH 2004

NSX Fidelity Fund operates under Part 7.9 of the old Corporations Act for the purpose of compensating persons who have suffered pecuniary loss because of a defalcation, or fraudulent misuse of securities or documents of title to securities or of other property, by:

- (a) a member of the securities exchange who, when the loss was suffered, was a sole trader; or
- (b) a person who, when the loss was suffered, was a partner in a member firm; or
- (c) an employee of such a member or firm; in respect of money, securities, documents of title to securities or other property that, in the course of or in connection with that member's or firm's business of dealing in securities, was or were entrusted to or received by the member, a partner in the firm, or an employee of the member or firm (whether before or after the commencement of this Part); or
- (d) on behalf of another person; or
- (e) because the member, or the firm or a partner in the firm, was a trustee of the money, securities, documents of title or other property.

The Funding for the Fund was sourced from an NSX contribution. To date there have been no claims made against the Fund. On going sources of Funding include contributions from new and existing participants.

The NSX Board had authorised and sought insurance for claims made against the Fund. The Fund was insured by Lloyds of London. The insurance policy has been replaced by an irrevocable letter of credit.

FROM 11 MARCH 2004

NSX Fidelity Fund operates under Part 7.5 of the Corporations Act 2001 for the purpose of covering Division 3 losses specified by section 885C, but excluding losses under section 885D.
